THE MOST SIMPLE - YET MOST REJECTED COMMANDMENT!

John C. Bowles

One of the simplest yet most rejected commandments of God in the gospel of Christ is the command of baptism! Jesus said plainly: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned" (Mark 16:16). Why is this the most rejected commandment?

1. First of all, it is not because it is hard to be understood. Ask any child who is capable of reading and understanding sentence structure and wording: "Who is it that will be saved?" The answer will come quickly! "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."

2. Second, some argue that since God has never explicitly said, "Except ye be baptized ye shall be lost." Thus, they reason that baptism is not essential. But notice what happens when one applies that reasoning to another commandment, the commandment of faithfulness. God has never explicitly said "Except thou remain faithful unto death, ye shall be condemned." Yet, who would deny that this is not essential to one's salvation? The point is that God did explicitly give baptism as a condition to one's salvation and that was enough (Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; 10:48; 22:16; etc.).

3. Some look upon baptism as a "meritorious work" by which one earns salvation. The truth of the matter is, no matter how many times one is baptized, without the grace of God providing man's salvation through the sacrifice of His Son, man would never have his sins washed away. For it is the blood of Christ that washes us (Rev. 1:5) and redeems us (1 Pet. 1:18-19) from our sins. However, the fact that God decreed that baptism in water is that condition to contact that blood (Rom. 6:3-4; John 19:34) does not make baptism a work of merit, but a work of obedience! Just as faith is a work of obedience (John 6:28-29).

In spite of the clear and unmistakable language of Mark 16:16, some still reject baptism as being essential to one's salvation. Are you ready to accept the truth? Circle the following statement that is true and mark out the one that is false:

1) "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."

2) "He that believeth and is not baptized shall be saved."
